

Growing Up Online

a fun workshop for you and your child

Monday 25th January at 1.30pm time at Goldfield

Did you know that internet safety is the child protection challenge of the 21st Century?

Please join us, along with your Year 2 child, to explore internet, gaming and social media issues and worries you may be facing now or in the future. (We are sorry that we won't be able to accommodate other siblings at this session).

The workshop will be led by Julia Bateson, a Child Exploitation and Online Protection (CEOP) Ambassador, eSafety blog writer and a mum who runs interesting and enjoyable workshops and information sessions for parents and their children. Julia was shortlisted as a TalkTalk Digital Hero for Internet Safety 2015.

The session will cover how to:

- set your parental controls at home
- manage your children's digital devices
- control when your child uses the internet as they get older
- better understand social media

You will have the chance to discuss experiences with your child and understand strategies that will empower you to digitally parent your digital children in a positive way.

Please bring along the mobile devices your children use at home (tablet, mobile, handheld games console) to briefly use in the workshop with your child.

This is what other parents have said about the workshop ...

'Learning how to apply parental controls on all devices was invaluable'

'Very informative - every parent should have this info. Thank you so much'

'Thank you for some useful links to websites - I will go home and set up my parental controls'

If you can attend the workshop please complete the form below and return to school by Friday 22nd January.
